Program Highlights

Youth Development

Values and skills learned early are vital building blocks for life. Because of the Y, more young people are taking a greater interest in learning and making smarter life choices. Whether it's gaining the confidence that comes from learning to play sports or building the positive relationships that lead to good sportsmanship and teamwork, participating in programs at the Y is about building the whole child, from the inside out.

Healthy Living

Being healthy means more than simply being physically active; it's maintaining a balanced spirit, mind and body. At the Y you can work toward that balance by challenging yourself to learn a new skill or hobby, fostering connections with friends through our lifelong learning programs, or bringing your loved ones closer together through our many family-centered activities. It's not about the activity you choose as much as it is about the benefits of living healthier on the inside as well as the outside.

Social Responsibility

We are committed to providing support to our neighbors and opportunities for kids, adults and families to give, join in or advocate in the name of stronger communities. To bring about meaningful change, we need to work as one, to move people and communities forward. That's why we're here day-in and day-out to provide the resources our communities need to address the most pressing community issues.
